With the commitment to maintain vitality in operations, port workers celebrate their day on June 14, convinced of the relevance of the work undertaken and of the essential contribution to the country's economy, in challenging times marked by the impact of COVID-19 .

From the Terminal de Contenedores de Mariel S.A. The more than 500 workers that make up this team ensure compliance with the planned hygienic and sanitary measures in each job position, as part of the confrontation of the pandemic, which has favored the continuity of the services provided and the satisfaction of the clients' needs.

Safety and health at work is a premise for workers in the sector, who focus on enhancing productivity in the extraction, loading and unloading of containers that arrive at the port enclave.

The date is propitious to remember the traditions of struggle of the workers in the sector, before and after the revolutionary triumph, as well as the labor exploits undertaken, guided by the spirit of the historical leader of the sector Aracelio Iglesias D  az.
